Short CV (text)

My name is Marco Dompé. I have a MSc and a BSc in Industrial Chemistry. I have studied at the University of Turin and now I am a Ph.D student at the University of Wageningen. I am really interested in chemistry and I have attended several lab courses during my academical career. During my student time I also worked as a private teacher for guys attending high school or university in order to help them with their homework or with their exams.
